A Bright Piece of Work.

The Chicago Herald comes out in a sensation in journalism. It is the Herald for September 26, 1925. The editorial telegraph news and advertisement are all written for 100 years hence. It is crum full of good things.

BACK FROM THE WOODS.

Some of the Experiences of Mountain Campers.

The other day the APPEAL's reporter noticed a crowd collected about a team in front of Torreyson's blacksmith shop. The crowd was trying to get the team to move on, but it refused to budge. Jesse Bright and Oliver Roberts were in the wagon pounding the nags with clubs.

"What's up?" asked the scribe.

"Can't get the team past the blacksmith shop."

"Why not?"

"Well, you see we've been up by Kirkwoods, and we have been in the habit of stopping at every blacksmith shop that we found on the road. Horses think they must stop."

"How'd you get past the other shops up the street?"

"Clubbed 'em past."

"Why don't you club 'em past this one?"

"Clubs givin' out and arms weak."

"Why don't you stop and have your old rattle trap patched up?"

"Money give out."

The crowd pitched the men into the wagon and helped hammer the horses past the shop.

The outfit was a sight to look at. The wagon had been mended so many times on the trip that none of the original vehicle remained.

The harness was held together by baling rope. What held the horses together nobody could find out.

The men were all eaten up by fleas, mosquitos and yellow jackets, and they had grown ten years older.

"Lots of fun?"

"Oh, you bet; big time."

"How are the roads?"

"Well, er little queer in places. We walked most of the way down from Hope Valley. Wagon little shaky you see. We've made this wagon over three times on the way down. Show me a piece of the old wagon and I'll give you a dollar."

"Much fish?"

"Plenty of fishing. We didn't catch any but several parties did."

"Game?"

"Woods full 'er game. Heard about game everywhere. We got up a little late for game."

"Going next year?"

"Well, er. We'll talk about that some other time."

Presently George Bryson and Bill Wooley came in. Their outfit also stopped at every blacksmith shop from force of habit. They had borrowed a horse to get in with. The other horse was up in the mountains getting cured of a rattlesnake bite. The man in the mountains was nursing him for $14 a week. Value of horse $50. If he could be cured in three weeks Bryson would save money on the goods.

They said that one night a bear had come into camp and chased the horses over into the Wolf creek region. Took over seven days to catch one horse and twelve for the other.

The Doane and McLoughlin families came down on the stage. Had been camping out but hated to admit it. Wasn't going next year.

Phil Nichols and Johnny Nevers reached the city Thursday. Johnny had been lost in the mountains two days. Started out to look for a bear. Spent two days looking for camp. Kept alive by kindness of sheep herders. Phil had surveyed three counties for deer. Face looked like a poisoned pup. Said the yellow jackets were increasing when he left.

Some more campers will be in today.

The Santa Cruz Engine.

Yesterday Frank Craven and Henry Bath started for Lake Tahoe with an engine from the Narrow Gauge R. R. The engine is called the "Santa Cruz" and is now designed for D. L. Bliss' Narrow Gauge Railway. They started out with ten horses and at the foot of Clear Creek grade they will be reinforced by ten more. They expect to make the trip this afternoon, barring accidents.

Swift Nominated.

Swift has been selected as the Republican nominee for Governor at the Los Angeles Convention, on the eighth ballot. The seventh ballot stood: Swift 137, Harton 108, Reed 73, Dimond 135, Morrow 2. On the eighth ballot the Dimond vote changed to Swift, giving him the nomination.

—WANTED—A girl to do general housework. Apply at this office.

A Postal Letter Sheet.

It is said that the new stamped letter sheet which is about to be issued by the Postoffice Department promises to be of great convenience. It is a letter sheet with a narrow place overspread with mucilage, so that the sheet may be folded and securely fastened. The letter ready for mailing resembles the style in use before envelopes were invented. This the Government stamps in loose sheets and collectively in pads, and it will be put on sale at the leading postoffices throughout the country. As it can be produced at a very low figure and affords the same security that the envelope does, it is expected to take the place to a great extent, of the postal card.

Couldn't Keep Out.

Hon. W. W. Hobart, formerly State Controller and afterwards State Senator of Nevada, commonly known as Bill Hobart, was elected a delegate to the California State Convention at the Republican primaries in San Francisco last week. He had several fights, and had the worst of it in most of them, but when the votes were counted he was compensated for his defeats in the fight arena by his success at the ballot box. Mr. Hobart had sworn off politics, but the old time spirit came back to him, and he couldn't keep out of the fight.

A Strange Species of Spiders.

S. J. Kendall, Janitor at the State University, brought to the Gazette office a strange species of spider, captured while he was renovating the building. The head and legs of the insect are of a mottled color, interspersed with black spots. Its body is of a reddish tinge, varied with spots forming almost wings, with hooded projections and apparent eyes, which when looked at from the rear resemble the face, eyes and ears of a cat.

Contract Let Building.

Contracts are let by M. H. H. Bancroft for a first class building, 75 by 170 feet, five stories with spacious elevators, and rooms suitable for mercantile business, or in suites for law or other offices, on Market Street, where lately stood his bookstore.

The architect is Mr. Clinton Day, and the building will be an ornament to the street in every particular.

—Jonquin Miller advocates covering Goat Island with forest trees. A good idea worthy the poet's head and sense of the beautiful.

What the Editors Say.

The following is from a lengthy article in the Sacramento Daily Record-Union:

"A striking example of the results of correct systems in business is found in what is known as the country order business of Sacramento. It would be exceedingly interesting to go into a general description of the methods by which Weinstein & Lubin carry on a country order trade with hundreds of customers daily, but would take more space than can be given. It involves one of the most intricate and yet one of the most harmonious systems of business known. This system figures the filling of an order far quicker than is possible by any other method. It is like a delicate but intricate piece of machinery, so complicated that there is the least possible friction. When one wheel moves, the whole mechanism is set in motion. The result is as exact as a time clock in a factory, which, while it may contain a hundred different parts, the relation of each to the others is such that, with the slightest movement of the mechanism, the result is marked instantly upon the clock. In the same way, the country order business is so perfectly adjusted that it does the work of a hundred different businesses, and it does it with a speed and accuracy that is almost incredible. It is a business which has been established and maintained for many years, and it is a business which is growing in popularity every day."

The lines of goods referred to in last few words of the above, and which are sold on a large scale, are such goods as Agricultural Implements, Tobacco, Groceries, Stationery, etc. Weinstein & Lubin's goods are simply filled as a country order business. It is mainly the ease, speed, and accuracy of their business which makes them successful where many others fail.

Among western lines, Weinstein & Lubin are the best.
